Vienna, May 17.

THE Imperial Court will continue at Luxemburg till towards the end of the next Month, and the Duke and Dutchess of Newburg will remain there during that time. We are here in great concern for the Duke of Lorrain, who mends very slowly. A Servant belonging to the Young Arch-duke has been, within these two or three days, Imprisoned upon Suspicion, that he would have Poysoned the young Prince. From Hungary we have an Account, That Count Tekeley was returned from the Conference he had with the Bassa of Offen; and it is said that the said Bassa told him, That the Grand Signior could not enter into a War this Year, but that he should have the assistance of the Transilvanians; however that the Port left it to himself to make Peace, or continue the War with the Emperor, as he thought fit, which we look upon here as an Argument that the Turks do not design a War; for if they did, they would not suffer Count Tekeley to make his Peace.

Luxemburg, May 22. Our Letters from Lorrain tell us, That the French are bringing an Army together near Nancy, which will consist chiefly of the Troops of the Kings Houshold. We are expecting here Prince William of Furstemberg, who it's generally believed will succeed his Brother in this Bishoprick.

Cologne, May 26. The Emperor has written to our Magistrates, to require them to restore the Burgermaster Krebs to his former place, which they have communicated to the Commons of this City, who seem somewhat disturbed thereat. The Affairs of Liege cannot be yet compos'd, by reason of the several Factions in that City, who hinder the resolutions that would otherwise be taken for the putting an end to these differences between their Elector and them, which have been the occasion of so much Prejudice and Disturbance to that City.

Hamburg, May 26. We have Letters from Copenhagen which tell us of the Kings departure from thence for Holstein; and here is a report that there is to be an Interview between His Majesty and the Elector of Brandenburg to morrow, at a place call'd Itzeho. From Stockholm they write, That the King did hasten out the Squadron of Men of war he intends to have at Sea this Summer.

Hague, May 29. The Treaty of Commerce concluded between this State and the King of Denmark, in 1643. for 40 years, is going to expire: Among other the advantages the Subjects of these Countreys obtained by it, this was one, That their Ships passing the Sound paid only so much per Tun, according to their Burden, whatever their Lading was, which was not to be examined. The States would renew this Treaty, but it's said the King of Denmark will not, and that he pretends the Dutch Ships Trading to those parts shall for the future only carry such Goods as are the growth or Manufacture of these Countreys, and particularly that they shall not Lade Salt in Spain. The Prince of Orange returned hither the 23. instant, and the next day the Princess & the rest of their Highnesses parted again for Bonsslaerdyke, with intention to pass this Season there. The 24. the States of Holland met again, and the Prince of Orange came purposely to Town to assist in their Assembly, and having so done, returned again to Bonsslaerdyke.

Paris, May 30. There is now a stop put to the Levies of Horse, and several Officers that were to have had Commissions are sent back to the Garrisons from whence they came, the King allowing them 25 Crowns for the Charge of their Journeys; for which several Reasons are given, but the most probable seem to be, That these Levies of Horse, might not hinder those of the Foot, which the King will have made first, the raising of Horse being much the easier of the two. The Provincial Treasurers for the Extraordinaries of the War, which are now Prisoners in the Arrest, are going to be Tryed, the King having sent Commissioners thither for that purpose. The 28th Instant dyed Henry de Bourbon, Duke de Verneuil, Natural Son to Henry the Fourth, and Governor of Languedoc, in the 81 Year of his Age. From Provence they write, That the Cardinal de Grimaldi lay then ill, without any hopes of his Recovery.

Windsor, May 23. Besides the Addresses which follow, there have been others Presented to His Majesty from the Justices of the Peace, and the Gentlemen of the Grand Inquest for the County of Westmorland, at the General Quarter-Sessions of the Peace holden for the said County at Kendal, the 28th of April 1682. as likewise from the Mayor, Recorder, Aldermen, and Burgesses of the Corporation of Kendal; and the Mayor, Recorder, Aldermen, Common-Council, and other Members of the Burrough of Appleby, in the said County of Westmorland; all which His Majesty was pleased to receive very Graciously.

To the Kings most Excellent Majesty.

The Humble Address of the Benchers, Barristers, and Gentlemen of the Inner-Temple, London.

Dread Sovereign,

AS we did with great Regret and Sorrow of Heart take notice of the late renewed, malicious, and wicked Attempts of the old Phanatick Enemies of the Crown, (who by false and Seditious Pamphlets, Cabals, and Discourses, and not without secret Conspiracies, have of late Aspers'd, Libell'd, and beset the best and most Loyal of Your Majesties Protestant Subjects; not sparing even Your own most Sacred Person) so we cannot but with great Joy call to mind, and gratefully acknowledge Your Majesties great Wisdom and steady Justice in all things throughout the whole Course of Your Reign, and especially Your Majesties firm Resolution of making the Law the Rule of Your Government, and of Rescuing Your Loyal Subjects from all Arbitrary Power and Tyranny that may be attempted and usurped over them by their Fellow-Subjects.

We
